

systems to infer emotions in the areas of workplace and education institution
AI systems to infer emotions in the areas of workplace and education institu

EU AI ACT · REG (EU) 2024/1689

AI Acceptable Use Policy

The policy your staff will actually read — drafted against the AI Act and the GDPR

TEN SECTIONS · SIX TO TEN PAGES · PLAIN ENGLISH

systems to infer emotions in the areas of workplace and education institution
AI systems to infer emotions in the areas of workplace and education institu

Most SME AI policies fall into one of two buckets.

Bucket one: a gesture.

Bucket two: a deterrent.

The two-paragraph 'be sensible with ChatGPT' notice that engages with neither the AI Act nor the GDPR. Or the forty-page law-firm draft that cost more than the SME's annual AI tooling budget and that nobody on staff has actually read.

Neither is a policy. This is the middle path.

Ten sections. Six to ten pages.

§1 Scope

who and what the Policy covers

§2 Definitions

AI Act and GDPR terms

§3 Permitted Uses

by category, with conditions

§4 Prohibited Uses

Article 5(1)(a)–(h) treated individually

§5 Data Handling

GDPR Art. 5, 6, 9, 22 mapped

§6 Responsibilities

by role, with Article 4 literacy

§7 Approval Workflow

three-route triage, Art. 25 surfaced

§8 Incident Reporting

incl. Article 73 pattern

§9 Review Cadence

annual, quarterly, event-triggered

§10 Sign-Off

acknowledgement form, governing law

Emotion inference at work. Prohibited absolutely.

"the use of AI systems to infer emotions of a natural person in the areas of workplace and education institutions"

Where this fires in practice:

- Webinar emotion-analytics features
- Sentiment dashboards on employee Slack or Teams
- "Engagement detection" in mandatory training

§4.1.6 of the Policy addresses each in detail.

Four GDPR articles cross-referenced.

Not assumed. Cited inline in §5 Data Handling Rules.

Art. 5

Principles

lawfulness · purpose ·
minimisation

Art. 6

Lawful basis

contract · legitimate interest · consent

Art. 9

Special category

health · biometric · political

Art. 22

Automated decisions

human review must be meaningful

Plus Article 50 AI Act transparency overlays. Plus Chapter V transfers.

The operational core of the Policy is one section.

AI Acceptable Use Policy.

Roll it out this month.

Get it at

aicomply.eu/docs/aup

v1.0 · MAY 2026 · INSTANT DOWNLOAD

Pairs with AIComply Toolkit · AI System Register